Nyrstar licence update

The Environment Protection Authority has written to its stakeholders in the Port Pirie region today with an update on the process for renewing Nyrstar's licence for 2022.

The community update outlines the licence conditions that will be strengthened.

A second update will follow on the day the new licence comes into effect and will outline the specific changes.

The update has gone to local community stakeholders and covers topics raised with the EPA Board and EPA executive during their visit to Port Pirie in May.

Please visit the EPA website for copies of all previous community updates, as well as air quality and site contamination reports and other information relating to this site.

Please contact us at epamedia@sa.gov.au or phone 0439 137 641 if you have any queries or requests for further information.
